Legal authorities Tuesday night stated that an injunction to prevent issuance of any census figures of cities without listing the "correct population for Atlanta probably would be the correct proceeding."

They declared that such a procedure probably would be more effective probably would be more effective.

They declared that such a procedure probably would be more effective than an appeal of the decision rendered Tuesday inasmuch as it was indicated by the court that the legislature had every right under the constitution to establish Atlanta, with its boroughs of Atlanta, East Point, College Park, Hapeville and Decaturand several other unincorporated communities.

In rendering the decision, Justice Frederick L. Siddons indicated that the wrong remedy had been sought, and authorities were of the opinion that an injunction would have the de-

R-101 DISASTER PROBE OPENED

LONDON, Oct. 28. - (A) - The groundwork for evidence as to what caused the crash of the British dirigible R-101 at Beauvais three weeks ago was laid today as a searching gayernment inquiry was opened in the Civil Engineers' institute.

Sir John Simon opened the hearing but the main speech was made by Sir William Jowitt, attorney general, who pointed out the purely experimental nature of the flight and declared that the "factor of safety in an airship is insurance against ignorance."

He said that naturally, experimental airships, openated by highly trained crews, must proceed with less regard to safety than ordinary well developed commercial enterprises.

Turning to the R-101 itself, Sir William said that the dirigible went on four trial flights before starting the ill-fated voyage which cost 48 lives. A certificate of air worthiness, he said, was issued on October 2, two days before the ship started for India on its last voyage. Sir John Simon opened the hearing by waves of applause, applause which, in its intensity, was almost as stirring as the marches. The audience, in other words, had a perfectly grand time.

The overture from Wagner's adolescent opus. "Rienzi"—sounding thing but Wagneria."

Any move to perpetuate peace among the nations, if it is to have the slightest practical value, must inevitably begin by suppressing John Phillip Sousa and those rousing marches of his, which constitutes an irresistible call to arms.

Looked at from a sane, dispassionate, adult viewpoint, such music does seem like the prancing of youngsters with toy guns and adolescent imaginations, but it is precisely there where the danger to "world-peace"—that Utopian chimera of political idealists — must eternally dwell. For beneath the surface tameness and respectability of every "red-blooded" male there exists a child with an incurable fondness for "playing soldier." And when the trumpets and percussion instruments are blaring and crashing out a march like "The Stars and Stripes Forever" this dormant young siter comes violently to life, shoulders his imaginary arms, and goes marching superbly off into the regions of fantasy. You can't be sane, unemotional, grown-up and civilized in the teeth of seven barbarous trombones and half a dozen skrill, martial and cruelly impersonal fifes. War, therefore, like Lieutenant Commander John Phillip Sousa, probably will continue to be an American institution.

DEFENDED BY HARRISON

Says He Has Attempted To Present Sworn Testimony to Public.

Comptroller General William B. Harrison Tuesday issued a statement in which he decries the criticism made of the action of the state convention in awarding the nomination for comptroner general to him instead of to Homer C. Parker.

His statement is as follows:

"I should like to pass without further discussion the incidents leading up to and the formal nomination by the state democratic onvention of the party candidate for comptroller general. Not one word or one paragraph of critical comment has been offered to the reading public of the state by the critics after ment has been offered to the reading public of the state by the critics after an examination of, or based upon the sworn evidence in the matter of the Wilkinson county affair, upon which the entire controversy had its inceptable for the sworn with election of a first vice president and a secretary. sworn evidence in the matter of the Wilkinson county affair, upon which the entire controversy had its inception.

Three times my counsel, my friends, and I, have endeavored to get this sworn testimony to the public, that the appalling truth, under oath might be known. We were refused that right. Moreover, I undertook to give to the public a brief outline of what it contained in a public statement, which only one newspaper saw fit to accord space for publication.

"I now submit the statement, without fear of successful unbiased contradition, that no jury of unbiased, fair-minded editors, or one made up of superior court judges of the state, can go into the sworn evidence and fail to reach the verdict that Wilkinson county's two unit votes never could and never should, legally or morally, have been made the means nor the end to cause a tie in the county unit vote of the state for comptroller general. Upon that conclusive fact I respectfully submit that there is neither justice nor fairness in adverse criticisms of the convention or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention or of the nomination formally declared by the convention or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nomination formally declared by the convention or of the nomination formally declared by the convention or of the nomination formally declared by the convention or of the nomination

"I further respectfully submit that there is neither justice nor fairness in adverse criticisms of the convention or of the nomination formally declared by the convention, or of the nominee, unless and until the critics have properly informed themselves upon the sworn evidence in the Wilkinson county matter, which brought about the claim of a tie in the county unit vote, and in the absence of which there would have been no controversy.

"I assert here and now that the integrity and preservation of the democratic party in Georgia and its primaries is more involved in the appalling revelations contained in the sworn evidence herein referred to than in any other possible transaction connected with any primary or convention, present or past.

"It is my purpose to lay that evidence before the democratic party authorities of the state entirely as a matter of information, in the light of the recent widespread propaganda of misinformation. They may use it as they see fit. I will have done my duty."

A Harmless Prescription, but How it Moves the bowels!

Don't you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't turn everything to water, but cleans out all that hard waste clogging your system. It cleans you out without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs a famous doctor found so good for the bowels combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A decter should know what is

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to move freely, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can useit whenever a coated tongue or sick headache gives warning that you are bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice) and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or become stuffed up with a cold.

You can get the original pre-scription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it any time anyone in the family is constipated.

DETROIT OFFICIAL LINKED WITH GANG

DETROIT, Oct. 28.— (P) —The transactions of a high police official with a coal company which police describe as a "front" for a gangster organization were under scrutiny today by Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox and, supposedly, by the special crime grand jury which yesterday seized the company's records.

Commissioner Wilcox revealed one transaction after he had relieved the official. Robert A. MacPherson, deputy chief of detectives, from active duty. MacPherson, Inspector Norval Marlett and Lieutenant Max Waldfogel, all of the detective bureau, were relieved at the request of the grand jury, which, however, made public no reason for its action.

Wilcox said he sent officers to raid the Capitol Coal Company this month after New York authorities had intercepted a shipment of machien guns consigned to the firm. The raiders were refused admission to the company's office because they had no search warrant, but the books later were submitted to Wilcox.

Clearer, Colder Day Is Promised ByWeatherman

Today will be clearer and colder, C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, predicted Tuesday. The weatherman expects the rain to be over by this morning, with no more in sight yet.

Temperatures will range between 50 and 62 degrees today. Tuesday's thermometer readings were 60 degrees minimum and 66 degrees maximum. The rain Tuesday was mostly in the form of a steady drizzle from leaden skies.

What a worry it was in our grandmothers' day-to keep kiddies from over-stuffing eager little tummies! To guard against the danger of too many goodies!

And your youngsters today . . . what of them? Growing, plastic, hungry little bodies. Amazing appetites. Like lovable savages they shed civilization, sometimes—and raid your pantry shelves!

But you can let them eat their fill now. Particularly if you adopt this wonderful modern way of cookingwith Snowdrift for shortening.

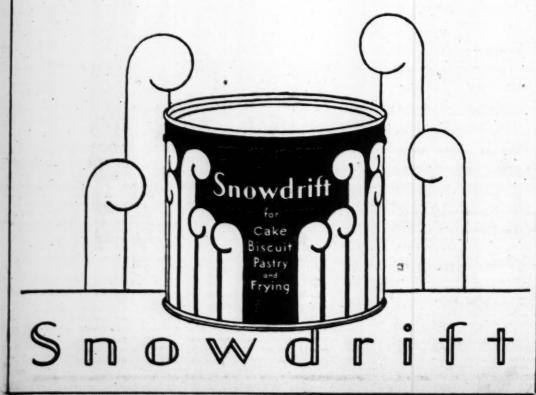

Your cakes and pies will really be flakier, lighter, more wholesome if you use Snowdrift. First of all because Snowdrift is an easily digested, wonderfully pure food in itself. And second, because it always creamsin so perfectly—blends so smoothly with the other ingredients. That, of course, gives lighter cake—finer, more wholesome pie crust.

And for frying ---

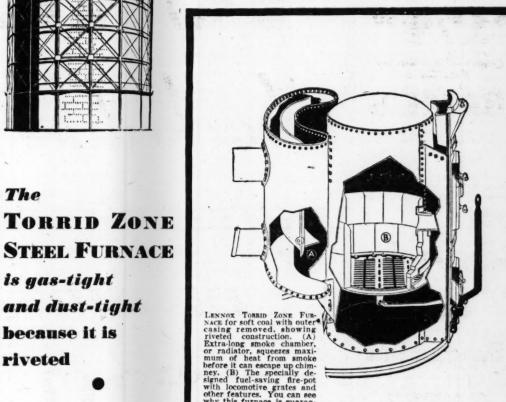

It's the golden-brown tender crust that makes fried foods so delicious-so tempting to children. And the shortening you use makes this crust. Isn't it nice to know - when you use Snowdrift - that your fried foods will always be wholesome? And so healthful that you can give the kiddies all they want?

Snowdrift at Reduced Price

Snowdrift is now at its lowest price in years. Ask your grocer. You'll find that the price is so low, you can use Snowdrift for all your baking and frying every day.

The Right To Sell Spoiled Meat Exists Only in a Society That Likes Meat Spoiled

Anything that a normal man does is natural. It has become the fashion to talk about leading a "free and natural meaning a life free of the restraints commonly imposed by conscience and civilization.

It is foolish talk, for restraints are as natural as liberties. No intelligent person would think an apple seedling unnatural because of its failure to bear fruit, nor think the tree unnatural when fruit appeared in later years.

It is natural for a young tree to be barren, yet it has in itself the natural capacity to develop fruit when it matures. So it is natural for man to develop the qualities and customs required to match his progress, and the germ of all modern civilization lived in the lousy and unclothed savage who used a club to defend his

When philosophers say that virtue and honor and self-restraint are the primitive man. They are natural to the modern—as natural as fruit to the ma-vance of civilization, and are as natural as primitive man's resentment of injury.

One man in the world alone would have unlimited rights and little need of moral standards. But the appearance of a second man would reduce the rights of the first by half; and when thousands are crowded into a small area, their rights are so divided and subdivided that none of the first man's "natural rights" remain intact. The truly natural rights that remain are the rights prescribed and circumscribed by logic and necessity. The right to walk abroad un-clothed no longer exists, for nakedness is an offense to many and man's natural intelligence naturally prompts him to forbid Much of the loose talk concerning rights and liberties refers to the ights and liberties of the unwashed primitive whose neighbors were not offended by things that now seem indecent. To claim as natural rights the liberties that could be inoffensive only in a society without ethical or cultural standards is to confess the pos-session of a mind many thousands of years behind the times. (Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution.)

Admiral Hugh Rodunan, famed navail officer, in his address Monday noon before the Aero Club of Atlanta, of which organization he was the guest of honor, suggested that Atlanta, having become one of the nation's most important air centers, now bend its efforts to the establishment of an airport closer to the center of the city, pointing out that minutes saved in aviation operations are equivalent to hours in other and slower forms of transportation.

The admiral is right, of course, and the time will come when the constant expansion of metropolitan areas will necessitate the maintenance of some sort of landing place within cityl limits; right now, with Atlanta's depleted exchequer and the added difficulty of finding a suitable plot of ground within a radius of eight miles operated by most other municipallities. The question brought up by Admirat Rodman is vexing airport reprobably will stay where it is, as close to the center of things as the landing fields operated by most other municipallities. Daily mail cargoes have been excellent and while the passenger business has been rather slow, Sanders believes that a big increase in patronage is not far distant, the line having proved that it can render a fast and reliable service. Officers of the Aero Club, nominated last week at a meeting of the board of directors, were elected without a dissenting vote at the meeting. Jesse Draper heads the organization for the second consecutive year and the other officials are as follows: T. E. Moodle, vice president; Bruce F. Woodruff, treasurer, and William A. Dunlap, secretary. All these are serving second terms, with the exception of Woodruff, who succeeded N. Baxter Maddox, resigned. New directors named to the board include C. H. Dolan, of Eastern Air Transport, Inc.: Mrs. Floyd McRae, local woman flyer, and John S. Candler, of the Blevins Aircraft Corporation. It was announced that William Candler, prominent Atlantan, had become a member Monday.

John K. Ottley, Jr., local representative of Eastern Air Transport, Inc., Tuesday told the American Business Club today of his company's plans for the new New York-Atlanta passenger line, slated to be opened on December 1 as an extension of Eastern Air's present line from New York to Richmond. The club's luncheon meeting took place at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Henry Grady hotel. Henry Grady hotel.

Sound Stocks Common Stocks Buy Now for Income and Profit

GENERAL interest in common stocks has very greatly increased in the last decade. It rests on the belief that sound American business enterprises are bound to grow; that equity investments in those enterprises will advance in value correspondingly.

This is a logical point of view. Popular acceptance of it came with such momentum, however, and over such a comparatively short term of years that it contributed, along with other influences, to over-stimulation of the stock market. The result was the great bull movement of 1929 and, subsequently, the sudden let-down of last November.

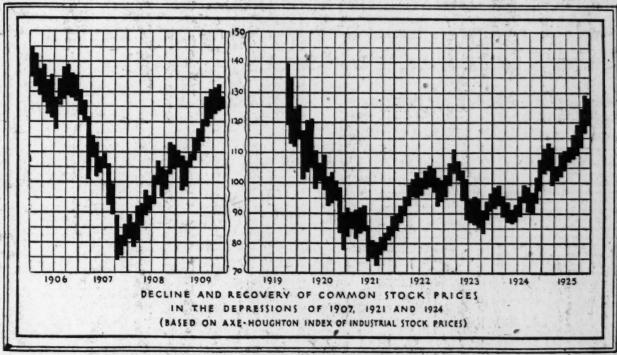

The readjustment of market prices has not in any way affected the soundness of common stock investment, as such. These readjustments have happened before. There was one as recently as 1924—almost forgotten now, although of major importance at the time. There was one in 1921, one in 1907, and so on back.

Recovery followed each depression in the past (note the chart), the country's natural prosperity returned, and corporate earnings rose to high levels. It is reasonable to believe that the country will recover—and recover fully—from the present depression. To hold otherwise is to hold that America has passed its peak of economic development, and can not continue to go forward.

The recovery, as it develops, will be reflected in increased corporate earnings and in the market value of common stocks.

Bonds and preferred stocks belong in every investment account, of course. Their stability and assured income entitle them to special consideration—usually to first consideration. But there is a logical place, too, for common stocks, both for income and capital appreciation.

The very fact that the yield and capital value of bonds and preferred stock are fixed, makes such securities relatively unresponsive to fluctuations in the purchasing power of the dollar. Common stocks, on the other hand, are particularly useful as a hedge against declines in purchasing power. Characteristically, corporate earning power increases in periods of rising commodity prices, and dividend increases go along with expansion in earnings. Even in a period when the long term trend of prices is downward, cyclical price movements upward occur and the increased return from common stocks at such times counteracts declines in the actual purchasing power of fixed-income securities.

If it is agreed that common stocks, carefully selected for permanent holding, are a sound investment, then it will surely be agreed that the best time to make such an investment is when prices are low. That they are low today scarcely anybody will question. Whether they may go a point or a few points lower before they permanently go higher does not greatly concern the genuine investor. Very few, anyway, are ever so fortunate as to buy at the absolute low; those who wait for it may wait too long.

The important fact is this: Common stocks of sound business concerns whose earnings records are impressive, whose management is able, and whose dividend practices have been satisfactory, are now available at authentic bargain prices. The investor who is willing to disregard near-term movements of the market may buy such issues now with the assurance that, over a period, he will receive liberal and increasing dividends and a substantial capital profit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(P)—Security and commodity markets maintained their recent firmness today; in fact, considerable strength was evident in certain directions, notably wheat, cotton and the copper shares.
Bonds again advanced.
Until the late trading, stocks rose with an unobtrusiveness that was heartening to those who have been hoping for a gradual improvement rather than an abrupt upturn. Although profit-taking and short selling in the last hour claimed a substantial though profit-taking and short selling in the last hour claimed a substantial part of the 1 to 6-point rise, the market held its firm undertone and receded as slowly as it had risen. Closing quotations were irregilarly higher. Sales totaled 2,016,200 shares.

poration's earnings statement—an outstanding item in a day of rather important news—was probably better than had been anticipated. It showed than had been anticipated. It showed third quarter profit equal to $2.06 a share against the most optimistic forecasts of $2, swelling the year's earnings to date to a total safely above the full dividend requirements.

The weekly condition statement of the federal reserve member banks revealed a significant decline of $116,000,000 in loans on securities, the item which Wall Street is watching most carefully. The decline in collateral borrowings this month amounts to $341,000,000, making the total only $222,000,000 higher than it was a year ago. Commercial loans, thable to develop much of a trend, turned downward, showing a drop of $33,000,000. THIS	DEED
me	ntioned :	2	sisters
	— not	3	brothers
A 3	Mr. I. nure	h-	and a lot

The deed stated the grantor was the sole heir at law of two decedents, his sisters. Later a Bank's attorney discovered the grantor had three brothers: one missing, one incompetent, one deceased but with heirs. A partition action, costing hundreds of dol-lars, had to be borne by the grantee. Title Insurance

FENNER & BLANE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The cotton market had all the earmarks of an old-time bull market as demand for contracts broadened and values climbed steadily. There were as few periods when unward movement was checked by profit taking of recent buyers and values dipped some while this selling was being absorbed. These periods, however, proved temporary and seemed was being absorbed. These periods, however, proved temporary and seemed was being absorbed. These periods, however, proved temporary and seemed attempted from market kept hobbing up in a way after everyone of these working and hoping for higher prices.

The best prices of the day were made in the late afternoon when active positions sold from $2 to $2.50 higher, closing near the top.

Spinners from Bombay and Japan to do meatic manufacturers were reported heavy burers of futures either in Liverpool or our market with much buying in the American markets from Europe, Japan and demand for finished cottons of the complete of the BEFE & CC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Encouraged by the recent action of the financial markets, cotton prices Tuesday continued their upward trend in active trading, advancing 14 to 21 points on the opening, when Liverpool cables were 4 to 5 penny points better than due, the July position crossing the 12c line for the first time since September 11. It was reported that some of the mills have raised their buying limits in line with the advance, which was also aided by higher quotations for foreign growths in the markets abroad and the return of unfavorable crop weather te the cotton belt. Values eased off after the opening on prefit taking and some bedge selling but contracts were scarce and prices soon turned upward again, much of the buying being attributed to Japanese interests. Trade buying and short covering came in on the advance and the May pesition also crossed the 12c line. Prices eased off again on realising but turned up again on reports of firm spot basis in the interior and good investment and speculative buying, gaining 13 to 43 points for the day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Cotton from the start showed more strength today than for some time past. Wail Street and the trade bought and locals covered. Offerings were moderate. Spinners were said to be nervous and showing increasing tendency to anticipate future needs by raising their limits or changing them to the market. The south reported a better spot demand and there was less hedge selling.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The market continued fairly atrong today until the last half hour when sharp declines in a few high priced issues such as Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical brought general profif-taking. The raily today afforded an excellent opportunity to dispose of uncertain holdings and to reduce trading positions. Failure of U. S. Steel directors to declare anything more than the regular dividends came as a disappointment but the earnings reported were rather better than expected. The possibility is obviously left open for a special declaration later on.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Selling increased to some extent in the late afternoon and most issues closed under the day's best levels. A sharp attack was centered on Eastman Kodak which was rather a heavy loser on the day. This selling followed rumors that net results for the year would be disappointing in proportion to the selling price of the stock. Several low-priced issues were also under heavy pressure, notably indian Refining. There undoubtedly will be in the next two months a great deal of unexplained selling in all kinds of stocks, particularly in low-priced issues, as tallosses are established. Mining shares were stimulated to some extent for a time by the arrival in this country of representatives of the big African copper producer.

the big African copper producer.

JACKSON BROS, BOCSEL & CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Anticipation in many quarters of an extra dividend on Steel common had brought out some heavy short covering into the market last week, and also on Monday and Tuesday of this week. It had also attracted considerable speculative buying for the rise. It remains to seen what effect a disappointment with respect to the extra dividend will have on the sizek market today. We lean to the view that values will be shaded moderately. Nevertheless, we lock for a gradual upward trend after early unsettlement. The conservative policy of the Steel corporation will not inspire the amount of new sort selling which would have been witnessed if a more liberal dividend policy had been pursued. The latter course would have been viewed as a case of artificial stimulation.

close but there was not much trading in that position.

Aside from the steadiness of Liverpool and apprehensions of delays in picking or damage to grades of cotton remaining in the field, there appeared to be no special news factor connected with today's advance. The reactionary sentiment which developed after the advances of last week and have been reflected by cousider able selling, seemed to have improved the technical position of the market; however, and the continuance of trade buying for both domestic and foreign account, evidently led to covering or the replacing of long contracts.

eral 5s, Southern Railway 5s and 4s, and Wabash Railway 5s D. Several of these issues have been mentioned in connection with the annual revision of the New York list of investments for savings banks. Decreased earnings have placed their standing in jeopardy and have related in sharp declines.

Utilities and industrials both reflected the greater interest of investors. Best grade utility issues whose quoted value has been only slightly impaired moved quietly but there were some sharp advances elsewhere in the group, notably Brooklyn Edison 5s A. Denver Gas and Electric 5s, International Hydro Electric 5s, International Telephone debenture 4 1-2s.

STRAWBERRY ACREAGE REDUCTION !NDICATED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A reduction of about 9 per cent in the acreage planted to strawberries is the acreage planted to strawberries is indicated, says the market news service of the United States department of agriculture, in preliminary reports of prospective acreage for next spring. The bulletin of the news service says: "Principally as a result of the prolonged drouth, it looks now as if the total commercial area of strawberries for picking in 1931 will be resulted by 9 per cent to 162,000 acres the smallest since 1926. Acreage has been reduced each season from the high point of 208,840 acres in 1928.

The bulletin, in a weekly review of fruit and vegetable markets for the week October 19-25, says that during the period an upward price trend was observed for cabbage, eastern grapes and potatoes. Freezing temperatures in northern states had affected the markets to some extent.

Florida oranges, the review said, "recently sold at city fruit auctions around $5,65 per box, with grapefruity averaging close to $3,20. Movement of grapefruit from Florida had decreased to 305 cars for the week, while wardings from Florida increased very harply to 750 cars, as against 90 a Standard of Indiana, however, was in good demand closing at 41, up 34.

In less active trading, Standard of Ohio advanced 3 points. Humble sold up more than a point, but was up only 3-8 at the finish. Gulf and Indian Territory A gained about a point. Cities Service was steady. The few copper shares now traded in this market were also firmer, reflecting the prospects of a world production curtailment agreement, brightened by the arrival in New York of heads of the Katanga mine in the Belagian Congo. Noranda rose about 2 points in active trading, and Newmont advanced fractionally.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Raw sugar was easier today under more liberal offerings, with prices declining 5 points to 3.45 for spots duty paid. Sales were 28,000 bags of Cuban at 3.48 and 25,000 bags at 3.45 for November shipment to local refiners, while an outport refiner bought 10,000 bags of Cuban for November shipment at 3.51. There was also a sale of 9,000 bags of Philippines to a local refiner for November arrival at 3.50.

Philippines to a local retiner for November arrival at 3.50.

Reports that a Cuban commission had indefinitely postponed a trip to Europe for a conference with the Javan producers on account of the unsettled conditions in Cuba and the more liberal offerings in the spot market had a depressing effect in raw futures, with prices lower throughout the session and closing from 5 to 7 points below the previous close. There was a little steadiness in the December position at the outset on covering causing an advance of 1 point, while the later deliveries were unchanged to 2 points lower, but subsequently the wibole list weakened under liquidation or realizing and selling by houses with European and Cuban connections. There was some covering and trade buying against sales in the spot market on the decline, but the demand was easily satisfied and final prices were around the lowest of the session. Approximate sales 57,900 tons. No. 2 contracts closed 5 points lower at 3.36 for No. 1: December 1.44; January 1.45; March 1.52; May 1.57; July 1,64; September 1.70.

The matron of honor, Mrs. William Van Brunt, sister of the bride, wore a smart costume of navy blue flat crepe, with yoke of real lace, over flesh color, and her flowers were pink chrysanthemums.

Mr. Taylor, a descendant of the same branch of the Taylor family as President Zachary Taylor, was born in Minneapolis, and received his education in Detroit. Later he went to Spokane, Wash., and soon thereafter entered the navy. After four years' service he came to Florida, where he and his father, Henry Taylor, established a contracting business in Jacksonville. Mr. Taylor is now in the contracting business in Tallahassee.

Gift to Tallulah School Made By Mrs. Pearson in Philippines

Announcement will be made by Mrs.

Eugene Harrington, president of the Young Matron's Circle of Tallulah Falls school, at a meeting of the circle this afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club that a check for $100 was received yesterday from Mrs. W. F. Tearson, who is in the Philippine islands, the amount to renew a part of a scholarship given to the Tallulah school last year, this former Atlanta whomen. During her residence here with her husband, Colonel Pearson, and their daughter, Miss Sally Pearson, Mrs. Pearson displayed keen interest in the Tallulah school and worked untiringly for its welfare. She left Atlanta last spring for the Philippines, where Colonel Pearson was transferred, and it is a source of gratification to those interested in Tallulah that this generous-hearted woman remembers the needs of this splendid school in the morth Georgia mountains when so far removed from its location.

Play To Be Presented.

Especial interest attaches to a particular feature of the meeting this afternoon that ties up closely with the spirit and purpose of the school on whose behalf the Young Matrons' Circle functions—the presentation for the first time in Atlanta of the playlet, "The Light in the Mountains and the Wey Out," which is to be given by the original producing company, a group of talented Acworth clubwomen, as a compliment to the circle.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Uct. 28.—Color Joe Nicholson, Thomasville man, had his first airplane ride yesterday, and got thrills enough to last him a long time.

Accompanied by his 5-year-old boy he entered a plane to go aloft, and both were properly strapped in. The pilot had a little trouble getting the motor started, so ran his throttle well up, to give plenty of gasoline, got out on the ground and proceeded to spin the propellor. When the motor started, it started full blast, and the plane started also, with great suddenness. The pilot tried to jump into his proper place in the plane, but the moving machine bowled him over and moved off, and up into the air.

Fortunately one of the wings tilted and struck the ground, causing the plane to come down on its side, and the pilot overtook it, stopped the mortal struck the ground, causing the plane to come down on its side, and the pilot overtook it, stopped the mortal struck the ground, causing the plane to come down on its side, and the pilot overtook it, stopped the mortal struck the ground, causing the plane to come down on its side, and the pilot overtook it, stopped the mortal struck the ground, causing the plane to come down on its side, and the pilot overtook it, stopped the mortal struck the ground, causing the plane to come down on its side, and the pilot overtook it, stopped the mortal struck the ground and proceeded to spin the propellor. First String Runs Signals as Mates Scrimmage Freshmen.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 28 .- While ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 28.—While their brothers in arms on the first string were getting rest, the Georgia second stringers scrimmaged a fre.hman team for more than an hour today as a steady downpour of rain dotted Sanford field with pools of water. The first team confined itself to an hour of running signals as Head Coach Harry Mehre continued his policy of giving his war horses light workouts on the first two days of the week.

The steady rain and dark clouds gave Sanford field a dreary look this afternoon, but the team trying its luck on the offensive was not affected by the weather. They looked, at times, like world beaters as they co-ordinated perfectly on their plays, al-though intermittent lapses hurt their

When they did work as a unit they rolled along down the field easily.

It remained for three halfbacks and one fullback to do the real ball-carrying. Charlie Hardin, who made his debut as a member of the varsity last Saturday, went off tackle through a nice hole, dodged-the five-man freshman secondary and didn't stop until he had crossed the yearling goal line, 65 yards gway.

"Secret practice" has been put down as the rule for the 'Gators through Thursday and Coach Bachman has given out the word that there will be strict enforcement of his order.

Bill McRae, the only regular un-able to play against the Furman Hur-ricane, will not enter the clash against Georgia's Bulldogs, McRae is a guard. Guy Toph, one of Bachman's promising sophomores, also is expected to be in shape for the Georgia tilt. Toph was injured three weeks ago. He is a tackle.

Bachman said tonight he considered the Georgia battle the hardest on the 1930 schedule. The Florida coach sent his squad through their second successive stiff workout this afternoon with the second team getting a dose of scrimmage while the first team looked on.

Following Thursday's workout the Floridans will embark for Savannah and will limber up Friday on the

It was in a scrimmage just before the Yale game that Key gave me the biggest kick of the year. The coaches dropped him into the sham battle and in one run he showed more halfback tricks than any one man has shown in many a year. I looked forward to seeing Homer Key, of Columbus, turned loose on an unsuspecting team somewhere. I could hardly wait.

Now the word is that Homer will be benched until next year. There is no room for him, anyhow, with all those hotfooted wildmen going like fire around a celluloid collar. Perhaps it is just as well to make Homer wait. And as for me, I'm Squad Holds To Spirit as Tarheel Clash Nears.

Rain forced the Jackets to take an indoor workout Tuesday afternoon as they began preparation for the North Carolina game Saturday at Chapel Hill.

The entire squad donned tennis shoes and devoted the afternoon to a defense against passes, the brand used by the Tarheels with some success this eason.

Both varsity squads had a look at the entire series as exhibited by the Gray Devils. They are a deceptive lot of passes, some of them worked from the double pass that has proved so effective against the Jackets in past games. Captain Earl Dunlap, though his speed is still reduced because of a knee injury, will start the game. Or rather he can start it if he is chosen in the opening linear.

The Tech captain worked at a half-back position Tuesday afternoon in the gymnasium. With him were Sam Colvin, quarterback: Pat Barron, half-back and "Sugar" Cain, fullback, Doug Graydon, halfback, was still limping. There was only one change in the line. Neblett, reserve center, was passing them back Tuesday. Neblett has not displaced Ike Farmer but is merely getting used to both sets of backs, according to Coach W. A. Alexander, who said that both centers would see service in the Saturday game.

The December game between Southern California and Notre Dame should be a grand sight. The Notre Dame-Northwestern game isn't going to be any tea party, either.

It seems more logical to say that Navy found itself against Princeton, than that Princeton lost itself against Princeton made a mistake when it announced definitely that this would be Roper's last year as head conch and that Wittmer had been signed to take his place. That must have been disorganizing. It placed, in the minds of the players an idea, perhaps subconscious, of divided authority.

SURPRISE LIST. SURPRISE LIST.

It was a surprise to me that Furman beat Florida; that Rice trimmed Texas; that Bucknell had so little trouble with Gettysburg; that Colby ran up such a score on Bowdoin; and that Williams held Columbia to a field goal. Nor did I expect Washington to defeat California, although this figured to be a close game. I also thought Holy Cross would give Brown much more of a contest.

If you think that football is in any danger of becoming less popular, look over the attendance figures of Saturday. Counting school games, it certainly would be safe to say that 500 football contests were held in the United States on Saturday. Ten of these drew a total of about 570,000 spectators. I don't think it could be an exaggeration to say that 2,000,600 persons watched football games, and there is no telling how many more listened to them over the radio, and read of them in the newspapers. There would appear to be plenty of interest in football.

There was plenty of fumbling in almost all the big games. Much of it may have come from poor passing. In the present type of football, where a back takes a direct pass, often on the run, there are bound to be slips, but I never have approved of a runner carrying the ball in both hands on a line play. A blow on either arm is almost certain to mean a loose ball.

Clark Gridders Hold Long Drill Work for Tech.

Intensive preparation for the game with Wilberforce Saturday continued at Clark University's field Tuesday, Coach Aiken putting his gridders through a stiff three-hour workout. A surprise move, but one which gives every indication of being permanent, came when Robinson, All-American end of last season, was shifted to his old position at center, with Houston—who has acted as pivot man so far this season—relegated to an end post. Despite this change, the Clark varsity continued to find plenty of trouble in solving the deceptive Wilberforce plays as run by the reserves. On several occasions the scrub backs, aided by a wall of interference which sity continued to find plenty of troughters, an outsider at 15 to 1. to victory after a delay of nearly two Leurs at the post.

The "Garrison finish" became a slogan in 1886 when Garrison came from Lowhere with an outsider, Dur'n Roller, owned by James R. Keene, to win the great eastern handicap at the old Sheepshead bay track in Brooklyn. It stuck with him along with his nickname "snapper."

FULLBACK NEEDED.

"Did you ever see a Warner team without a great, plunging fullback?" is he asks to prove his point. "Mine can be small but they must be agile, of course. My boy Savoldi can go places." Knut gets a bit peeved sometimes because the opposition to his, shift is always "under cover" He can't seem to drag his opponents out in the open for a knockdown, drag-out argument on the subject.

"The coaches who decry the shift are just cry-babies," he insists. "They can't meet present conditions of the game themselves. They're like a lot of businessmen down in Wall Street these days. They don't know the war

Tech Yearlings in Prime Condition for Tough Game Saturday.

Unbeaten this season and with the scalps of the Monroe Aggies and the Furman freshmen already dangling from their belts, the Baby Jackets expect to make a determined effort to add the Auburn yearlings to their list of victims Saturday when Jack Cannon's charges invade the Flats.

With the Tech varsity doing battering the ball carrier, is the rushes the man carrying the ball after he has clearly committed himself, this man makes a backward pass the simplest variation is to run two backs around the end, the ball carrier inside, with his teammate four or five yards to the outside. In this play no effort is made to take out the defensive end, who gets a clear shot at the ball carrier. The end has to develop the play and must play the ball carrier, if the rushes the man carrying the ball after he has clearly committed himself, this man makes a backward pass to the outside. The control of the contro your

Of course, the defensive backs have to be reckoned with. They must be put out of the way, or the man receiving the lateral will be tackled

It is important that the carrier watch the man he is going to pass to, and not the defensive player. By doing this the passer is able to time his pass. The pass can be made either behind or beyond the line of scrimmage. The receiver of a forward pass can make a lateral to a teammate just before he is tackled which is bound to unsettle the defense.

In the backward pass the ceiving the lateral will be tackled with small gain.

A lateral pass and then a forward make a splendid combination play. If the backs come up fast the lateral receiver is in good position to make a long forward pass to an end down field, and this threat of the forward pass after the lateral will have a tendency to slow up the defensive backs in covering the lateral. Suppose the defensive end decides to play the receiver of the lateral, and does not go for the ball carrier. In this case the original man with the ball has a fine chance to run, as the end has taken himself out of the play.

USED IN 1919.

In view of the present popularity of the lateral, it is interesting to note that Princeton in 1919 scored against Harvard on a very pretty lateral pass, Strubing to Trimble.

This play was made from a kick formation, with Strubing in the quarterback position and Trimble about eight yards back of the line. Princeton had the ball on Harvard's 25-yard line. Strubing was under the center, got the ball and made a fake to Garrity, Princeton fullback.

This fake drew the Harvard tackle in and Strubing started for the end. The Harvard end came in to develop the play and Strubing, passed, to Trimble, who had a clear field except for the Harvard wing back. Trimble managed to dodge him, and scored a touchdown.

The MURDER at

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

We saw Lawrence Redding's cotte just as we turned off to the stan. It stands in an isolated position, th no other house near it. I obtyped two young men of smart aparance standing on the doorstep, and couple more peering in at the wintypes. It was a busy day for the less.

"Nice fellow, young Redding," I re-ma rked, to see what my companion would say.

I He was so out of breath by this time that he found it difficult to say any thing, but he puffed out a word which I did not at first quite catch. "Dangerous." he gasped, when I asked him to repeat his remark.

"Dangerous?"

From which I deduced that the only you'ing man in the village had not passued unnoticed by the fair Gladys.

"Goodness," ejaculated Dr. Stone.

"The train!"

"The were close to the station by this time, and we broke into a fast sprint. A de wn train was standing in the station, and the up London train was just coming in.

At the door of the booking office we tollided with a rather exquisite yourig man, and I recognized Miss Mar-ple's nephew just arriving. He is, I think, a young man who does not like to be collided with. He prides himself on his poise and general fair of detachment, and there is no deoubt that vulgar contact is detriment, alt to poise of any kind. He staggered? back. I apologized hastily, and we phassed in. Dr. Stone climbed on the train, and I handed up his baggage just as the train gave an unwilling jerk and started.

I waved to him and then turned away. Raymond West had departed, but our local chemist, who rejoices in the name of Cherubim, was just setting cout for the village. I walked beside him.

"Close shave that," the chemist observed. "Well, how did the inquest go, Mr., Clement?"

I gave him the verdict.

"That old crone? She's practically a half wit, as far as I can make out."

"That's merely the camouflage of the poor." I explained. "They take refuge behind a mark of stupidity. You'll probably find that the old lady has all her wits about her. By the way she seems very certain now that the pistol was in its proper place midday Thursday. What's made her way she seems very certain now that the pistol was in its proper place midday Thursday. I gave him the verdict.

rather t hought they d adjourn the inquest. Where's Dr. Stone off to?"

I repeated what he had told me.

"Lucky not to miss the train. Not that you ever know on this line. It tell yout, Mr. Clement, it's a crying shame. Clisgraceful, that's what I call it. Train I came down by was 10 minutes late. And that on a Saturday, with no traffic to speak of. And on Wedne'sday—no. Thursday—yes, Thursday it was—I remember it was the day off the murder because I meant to write a strongly worded complaint to the company—and the murder put it lout of my head—yes, last Thursday. I had been to a meeting of the pha runacequical society. How late do you think the 6:50 was? Half an hour. Half an hour exactly! What do you think of that? Tren minutes I don't mind. But if the train doesn't get in till flwenty past seven, well, you can't get home before half past. What I say bs, why call it the 6:50."

"Quite so," I said, and wishing to escape from the monologue I broke away with the excuse that I had something to last was place."

"Yes," I keep the door locked now," I observed.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS. never ventures shouldn't whine has naught on which to dine.

Jimmy Skunk was having a feast every night and Bobby Coon knew it. He knew just where Jimmy was getting that feast. He knew that it was inside the shed at Farmer Brown's house. Just what the feast was Bobby didn't know, because he hadn't been in there; but that it was something good he knew from the way in which Jimmy Skunk smacked his lips.

There were two reasons why Bobby had not been in. One was that he was afraid of the unknown. He didn't is waiting for me," replied Jimmy know what might be inside there or Skunk.

was arraid of the unknown. He didnet have who might be inside there, and so his courage was not equal to so bold a yenture. The other reason was that Jimmy Skunk was in there and Bob. As for Jimmy Skunk, he continued by had a most wholesome respect for Jimmy and his little bag of scent. He knew that Jimmy probably considered that his particular feast in there and knew that Jimmy probably considered that his particular feast in there and that he might resent having any one try to share it. So for several nights Bobby was sitting on the outside, while Jimmy was eating on the inside.

Then one night Bobby, getting impatient, got over to Farmer Brown's house before Jimmy Skunk did. Bobby's nose told him that Jimmy was not over to Farmer Brown's house before Jimmy Skunk did. Bobby's nose told him that Jimmy was not told him that Jimmy and the control of the stole my dinner!" exclaimed Jimmy. "That's what he did, he stole my dinner!" at the tries that again the control of the control poke his nose just inside, it told him that there was a good dinner in there. Bobby hesitated, pushed his head wholly inside, drew back, pushed his head in again, drew back a second time, and then, mustering up all his courage, he went inside. It was a rather tight squeeze to get through that round doorway; but he got through and then he sat for a moment with every and ears and nose all alert. with eyes and ears and nose all alert for the least hint of danger. Slowly Bobby took a step forward; then another step. His nose was tickled with the smell of good things. He shivered all over. He reached forward and then took a hasty mouthful. A moment later he had forgotten everything in his greed to get all of that dinner as quickly as he could. He might have heen out in the Green Forest for all charged for in his greed to get all of that dinner as quickly as he could. There was an expression in the Spaniard's eyes as he gazed fixedly at Flora Hawkes that gave her a mentary chill. Many things she read in his handsome face. But Flora knew nothing of fear. And this man was so vital to the success of her brilliant scheme. "You can make me do anything you want, Flora," he said, "for when I am with you I forget the gold and think only of that other reward which you deny me, but which one day I shall win." be so many to divide the golden ingots with that "Love and business do not mix well," she replied. I shall bring back from Africa."

ban," she continued, "and then we may talk of love." "You do not love me," he whispered hoarsely. "I know-I have seen-that each of the others loves you. That is why I hate them. I tell you I do not like it, Flora, and one of these days I shall forget about the gold and think only of you. When that time comes, something will happen," he added with a sinister sneer, "then there will not

The fire of glowing anger was leaping to the girl's eyes. With a scornful gesture she silenced him. What business is it of yours, Senor Esteban, who I choose for my friends?" The Spaniard ran his fingers through his long black hair until it stood up on end like the mane of an angry lion. He ap-peared a man temporarily bereft of his reason. The girl realized that she must placate him. "Don't excite yourself, Esteban," she whispered softly. "I not said that I loved one of the others-nor have I said that I do not love you." Scores of fighting planes droned over the capital this afternoon while the chief of state here and his min-isters elsewhere officially opened hun-dreds of public works which fascism has built to give employment and to develop the country's economic

The Vatican participated. Cardinal Sincero, standing beside the duce, blessed a military banner which Mussolini presented to a group of war wounded. It was the first time a prince of the church has in such pub-lic manner identified himself with

ADVENTISTS OPEN OMAHA MEETING

OMAHA, Oct. 28.—(P)—The prob-lem of continuing its present world-wide missionary activities occupied the attention of delegates to the annual fall conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church today.

Facing what officials described as a financial crisis, 500 denominational leaders from virtually every country in the world decided it would be unnecessary to recall any missionaries because of the existence of a mission reserve fund of more than $1,000,000 which has accumulated in the last 15

Rev. C. H. Watson, of Washington, D. C., president of the conference, who presided at the opening session.
urged the delegates to ask God for adequacy in meeting the problems of the session and to remain cool, reminding them that "a panicky people is almost sure to do the wrong thing in the face of a crisis."

I. L. Shaw, Washington, D. C., treasurer, announced that during the first eight months of this year the church expended $187,000 more than its income on mission activities. Representatives of foreign confer-

D. A. V. Leaders Seek Added Benefits for War Veterans

On the night of June 26 a masked party of men carried three men and the wife of one of them into a swamp near Fort McCoy, flogged the men and maltreated the woman, but otherwise did not harm her.

The victims of the mob were E. ix. Barrett, resident of the Fort McCoy section: T. J. Anthony, former Springfield (Mo.) banker, and Nelson Brown, also of the Fort McCoy community, together with Mrs. Barrett. the duce's words, "unmasking a warlike Europe," marched in every city and village.

Moving columns gave an inkling of what Mussolini meant yesterday when he promised that two years hence the tenth anniversary of the fascist march on Rome would witness the greatest military concentration there in 3,000 years.

Scores of fighting release.

In the interest of legislation looking to betterment of conditions for disabled veterans of American wars, a group of national officials of the Disabled American Veterans gathered in Atlanta Tuesday for a two-day conference. Among those attending the sessions were officials shown
national liaison officer; Hugh Lee Johnston, national chaplain; Thomas Kirby, national legislative chairman; William J. Folsom, commander, department of Georgia, and Malcolm Smith, former commander of the fifth district.

OWNER TAKEN FOR RIDE

NEW YORK. Oct. 28.—(F)—Police were investigating today the killing od a miniature golf links owner who was taken for a ride in his own car in the Bronx.

Joseph Fuererman, 40, was dumped out of the automobile into West 174th street last night with several bullets in his body. He died in a hospital a few minutes later. Police found his car abandoned a short distance from the scene of the shooting.

His wife said he was part owner of a miniature golf links. Police are investigating on the theory that the killing might have resulted from an attempt of racketeers to "muscle in" on the miniature golf business.

Police said he had a record which included three convictions for larceny and that he was known in the neighborhood as a beer runner.
